McCollister's Installation Services is a specialized service division of McCollister's that provides logistics and installation, site work and construction for the ATM manufacturers as well as banks and anyone else who uses ATM equipment. Our team of specialists receive orders from our clients, develop CAD drawings for both the site and installation and work with construction companies and suppliers to develop budgets. From there we manage the transportation, warehousing and installation of the ATMs. In fact, we provide all necessary services for a bank to have an ATM up and running with everything done except the delivery and installation of the money!

In addition to that, we provide similar services for kiosk manufacturers whose products vary in size from less than a hundred pounds to several thousand pounds. Our installation technicians are skilled in all aspects of delivery, installation and on-site testing of the equipment.

So, whether you need cash, stamps, your blood pressure checked or any one of the number of things available through this type of equipment, there's a very good chance we were responsible for the delivery and installation of that equipment!
